FIERCE ACTION IN CENTRAL PACIFIC DRIVE

Americans Punch Out Bridgeheads In Gilbert Islands

In Making Landings on Makin and Tarawa United States Forces Apparently Run Into No Sea Forces Of the Enemy

ARTILLERY AND OTHER UNITS SUPPORT MARINES

Pearl Harbor, T. H., Nov. 22.—(P)—Talk of a central Pacific drive has flamed into fierce action—invasion by American marines and soldiers of Makin and Tarawa in the Gilberts, where they are fighting off a spearhead aimed at the heart of Japan's sea power.

On the low, sandy shores, where natural protection is scant for attacker and defender alike, the Americans punched out several beachheads against strong resistance at Tarawa, the enemy's key air base in the Gilberts, and at Makin, a seaplane harbor, where they met moderate opposition.

Their landing covered by naval units, which laid down aerial and surface bombardments, the Americans apparently ran into no Japanese sea forces, although the strategic importance of the Gilberts may well draw the enemy's fleet into battle.

For 1,600 statute miles to the west lies the heavily fortified Truk islands—vital link to the Japanese sea power—and to the north the Marshalls where the enemy holds powerful air bases at Eniwetok and Wotje.

The Americans landed Saturday. Admiral Chester W. Nimitz, commander-in-chief of the Pacific fleet, announced it 24 hours later in a communique which also said "fighting continues."

The Makin landings presumably were made on Butaritari, largest island of the Atoll. Approximately nine miles long and a thousand yards wide, it is shaped much like a man's leg and foot. Butaritari probably has seaplane facilities in an excellent anchorage surrounded by coral reefs; a radio station, three wharves and a stone pier.

The Tarawa landings probably were made on Betio island which has an excellent triangular airfield long enough for medium bombers.

Supporting the marines, many of them toughened to battle in the jungles of the Solomons, and the soldiers, were artillery and other units but before them was an enemy who had time to dig in, time to set up artillery and burrow hallow foxholes in the sand.

Week-long bombings of both the Gilberts and the Marshalls preceded the landings, and even as they were made Army Liberators pestered the Japanese again to help divert part of the enemy's air force. Some overhead opposition was reported in making the beachheads.

By the invasion—the first by the United States north of the equator since the Japs' sneak on Pearl Harbor—the Allies spread their attack arc from New Guinea northeast through the Solomons, 1,100 miles to a fringe some 2,400 statute miles from the Hawaiian Islands.

The widening arc suggested the Americans primarily were after air bases from which to launch attacks possibly on Nauru, west in the direction of Rabaul in New Britain; the Marshalls, or upon Truk itself.

London, Nov. 22.—(P)—The Tokyo radio broadcast today a communique from Japanese imperial headquarters saying that American troops had landed on Makin and Tarawa islands in the Gilbert group and that heavy fighting was in progress.

The landings followed a bombardment by an American naval force which included battleships and aircraft carriers, said the bulletin.

ckes Denounces Canol Oil Project

Washington, Nov. 22.—(P)—Peoples Administrator Harold L. Ickes today denounced as not "in the interest of the government" the $30,000,000 U. S.-financed Canol oil project in Canada, said it had been undertaken by the war department without proper consultation with his office and asserted it ought to be junked now.

He made this statement after a man told him that post-war opposition of the project would cost with a Canadian and an American representative, subject to certain conditions.

The American government is to pay $1.25 a barrel for the first 1,000,000 barrels, Truman said, with future withdrawals to be paid for 50 cents less.

Ickes' sentiments were concurred by Rep. Gavin (R-PA), who said there are a billion barrels of oil in the earth waiting to be coaxed out in his home district and called it "a bad deal, a head-on," he said, "and we ought to get out of it."

SHOWDOWN ON SUBSIDIES IS POSTPONED

Removal by Death of Two Leading Figures in Dispute Causes Delay In House Action

PASSAGE IS PREDICTED

Washington, Nov. 22.—(P)—Sudden death among the house membership today delayed for at least a day a showdown vote on the administration's consumer-subsidy program, and removed from the scene one of the leading figures in the bit or subsidy dispute.

Shortly after the house arranged to suspend business for 24 hours in respect to Rep. Ditter (R-Pa.), a powerful figure in his party's councils, killed yesterday in a navy plane crash, Rep. Steagall (D-Ala.), frequently an administration stalwart, but recently lined up against the White House subsidy plans, died suddenly in a Washington hospital.

Steagall, who was stricken with a heart attack, had as chairman of the banking committee wielded powerful influence in this dispute, playing an important role in lining up farm state opposition to consumer subsidies.

His death automatically elevated Rep. Spence (D-Ky) to the chairmanship of the banking committee. Spence has taken the position that "subsidies should be sustained under the present circumstances in view of congress' instruction to the president to hold the line."

While the two deaths will delay the house decision in the controversy, it was not expected to affect the outcome. Even the most optimistic of President Roosevelt's stalwarts on Capitol Hill have conceded privately that the measure banning subsidies will be passed by a substantial margin.

The subsidy vote had been scheduled for this afternoon, to be followed with debate on the new tax bill.

With the leadership determined to complete house action this week on both these items a Thanksgiving day session appeared likely.

Conviction of Erie Slayer Is Appealed

Philadelphia, Nov. 22.—(P)—The Pennsylvania supreme court heard argument and reserved decision today on an appeal by William F. McCausland, of Erie, Pa., from his first degree murder conviction and death sentence in the shooting of Leo Knoll during an argument in an Erie taproom last March 4.

McCausland's counsel contended that the trial judge seriously erred in his charge to the jury and also that the first degree verdict was not supported by the evidence.

The commonwealth argued that the evidence was clear and the death penalty "amply warranted." The judge's charge was fair.

McCausland's state charges, shot Knoll with a high powered rifle after Knoll engaged him in a "trick bet" and then claimed his $10 wager.

McCausland's defense was based on assertions that he was intoxicated and temporarily insane.

POLES STATE RUSSIA MUST BE HER ALLY

By FLORA LEWIS

Washington, Nov. 22.—(P)—Polish sources that can not be otherwise identified declared today that the Russian army must enter Poland as an ally, and not as a conqueror, or else face desperate resistance by the Poles themselves.

Determination to fight back unless the Soviets reestablish diplomatic relations with the London Polish government—in exile was voiced in responsible quarters here as Red troops plunged closer to the old Polish frontier, established in 1921.

And there they stayed.

Police refused permission to shoot them. The fire department couldn't help either—it was against regulations—and the animal rescue league lacked turkey-catching equipment.

So there are eight turkey dinners waiting high up in the north end—eight turkey dinners and the owner of the birds, who said: "It ain't funny, I'm out a hundred bucks."

Plans Shaping For Financing Rehabilitation

Manner in Which 44 Nations Will Try to Aid War Zones Unraveling

THE MAIN OBJECTIVES

Atlantic City, N. J., Nov. 22.—(P)—The manner in which 44 nations will try to rehabilitate the war zones became clearer today as plans began to take shape both for footing the bill and for the actual task.

Through both plans—"financial" and "scope" in United Nations relief and rehabilitation conference terminology—ran one idea: that the countries, both those who receive aid and those who give it, intend to consult each other at every major step.

There are two objectives behind this: To insure Allied armies all the supplies needed, even though fighting still is going on when the bulk of the buying starts.

To protect the Allied buying boards now buying and allocating 95 per cent of the world's supplies outside enemy territory, from a world-wide inflation when UNRRA's purchasing begins to compete with war purchases.

Col. John J. Llewellyn, British delegate who is chairman of the committee on scope, said at a press conference that UNRRA will operate in any area with the military if there is no recognized government. Where UNRRA enters before the government, it will obtain consent to its program as soon as feasible.

Local Boy On Missing List Is Prisoner

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Taft, 20 Swiss street, received a telegram Friday evening from the War Department saying: "Report received through the International Red Cross states that your son, Staff Sergeant Gilbert L. Taft, is a prisoner of war of the German government. Letter of information follows from Provost Marshal General."

Staff Sgt. Taft has been reported missing in action in the European area since October 10. A graduate of the Army Air Forces training schools, he is a member of the Second Air Force and is assistant radio operator and gunner on a Flying Fortress.

Graduate of Warren High School and Hoff's Business College, he has been in the armed forces since August 7, 1942.

STONE WILL REFUSE

Washington, Nov. 22.—(P)—Chief Justice Harlan F. Stone said in a letter read to the senate today by Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich) that he would decline to take part in appointing any member to a proposed war ballot commission which would administer absentee voting by the armed forces.

WOMAN BAILS OUT

REP. DITTER IS VICTIM OF PLANE CRASH

Lancaster County Congressman and Lieut. Commander Mansure Carried to Deaths in Accident

ACTIVE AT CAPITOL

Columbia, Pa., Nov. 22.—(P)—A navy plane, circling helplessly and dropping flares through a heavy rain falling on this Lancaster county town, crashed and burned near here last night carrying Rep. J. William Ditter and Lieut. Com. J. J. Mansure to their deaths.

A few hours earlier an army transport smashed into Locust mountain near Tamaqua, 100 miles north in the anthracite region. The plane became a blazing funeral pyre for seven occupants, whose names were withheld by the Third Service Command pending notification of the next of kin. Two soldiers found wandering dazedly a half mile from the wreckage were taken to nearby Coaldale Hospital.

Congressman Ditter, 50, a resident of Ambler, Pa., and a ranking Republican in the house, was enroute with Commander Mansure from the Squantum, Mass., naval air base to the Navy base at Willow Grove, Pa., 80 miles from where the plane crashed. Mansure, 35, was executive officer at Willow Grove.

The navy was unable to say why Ditter was aboard the plane, but it pointed out that congressmen frequently travel on military planes when on government missions. Ditter was closely linked to naval operations through his handling of navy finance matters as a member of the house appropriations committee.

Early arrivals stumbling across the pitted mountainside found the two survivors a half mile from the wreckage. At the hospital they were listed as Charles Davis, Greenville, S. C., and Joseph Enloe, Emsley, Ala. Their injuries were not reported but were listed as serious.

Harrisburg, Nov. 22.—(P)—The death of Congressman J. William Ditter, Republican, in a plane crash in Lancaster county created a second vacancy in the Pennsylvania delegation in congress that will be filled by special elections.

Under the law, Governor Marvint will issue a writ within ten days of official notification of the vacancy, setting a date for a special election in Montgomery county, comprising the district Ditter represented for eleven years.

The governor last Thursday was notified of the resignation of Congressman James P. McGranery, Democrat, of Philadelphia.

Tamaqua, Nov. 22.—(P)—An army transport plane crashed into high tension wires and burst into flames on Locust mountain during a heavy rain storm last night and seven men perished in the blazing wreckage.

A half hour later two badly injured soldiers were found wandering dazed and shouting for help about a half mile from the wreckage, which was on rugged terrain pitted with mine strippings.

Rescue parties started out immediately after the crash. The flames were visible to hundreds of residents of this anthracite city. Locust mountain, about half a mile away, overlooks the town.

MacMILLAN NAMED

London, Nov. 22.—(P)—Sir Harold MacMillan, who has been British minister in French North Africa, has been appointed the British representative on the advisory council for Italy created by the Allies at the Moscow conference, it was announced today. His title will be United Kingdom Commissioner.

Ex-Ambassador Is Senate Candidate

By WICK TEMPLE

Harrisburg, Nov. 22.—(P)—Republican leaders here have begun to consider former Ambassador to Chile William S. Cullbertson for the organization's United States senate candidate in 1944.

An important figure in state administration affairs suggested the Franklin county lawyer and farmer, authoritative sources disclosed. Two national party leaders also were understood to have supported the move.

Former Governor Arthur H. James and State Senate Leader Weldon B. Heyburn also are among possible candidates for the place now held by Senator James J. Davis, three times secretary of labor.

Davis, who successfully bucked the state organization until last year when he lost the gubernatorial nomination to Governor Martin, is expected by friends to seek re-election.

A close associate indicated he will ask a third term on a plea that his retention on the senate foreign relations committee will give Pennsylvania a voice in writing the peace treaty.

Two Killed In Auto Crash At Titusville

Titusville, Nov. 22.—Two automobiles collided with considerable force at the intersection of Main and Kerr streets Sunday afternoon about 3:30 o'clock and two passengers in the same car met almost instant death. They were: Mrs. Betty Dolores Southwick, aged 19, and her son, Thomas, aged 3, residing at 414 North Kerr street.

The child died instantly and the mother was decapitated when the ambulance reached the hospital.

Two other persons were injured, neither one seriously enough to remain in the hospital after receiving aid. They were Ellwood Southwick, an employee of the Iron Works, husband and father of the victims, and Miss Winifred Smith of Tidoute, a teacher in the Warren public schools.

Deputy Coroner C. M. Sonne investigated the case and decided there would be no inquest. He made no statement relative to who was at fault in the matter.

Deputy Coroner Sonne interviewed Mr. Southwick and Miss Smith, both of whom told him they did not see the other car until they were virtually upon each other. Miss Smith said she tried to avoid the Southwick car by turning to the right, but it was too late. She said she was driving slowly because the pavement was wet. Mr. Southwick did not make any statement about his rate of speed.

Five Sources Drawn Upon To Fill Draft

By RALPH E. WALLIS

Harrisburg, Nov. 22.—(P)—Pennsylvania's 422 local Selective Service boards—deciding who shall go to war and who shall stay at home to fight the battle of production—are drawing upon five main sources to fill quotas.

Although pre-Pearl Harbor fathers are being called in "increasing numbers," State Selective Service headquarters today asserted boards are also reaching into these four other manpower reserves to boost the nation's military might:

1. Eighteen-year-olds, who are registering at the rate of approximately 7,000 a month.

2. Men whose occupational deferments expire.

3. Those released from war plants under the War Manpower Commission's replacement schedule plan.

4. Reclassified 4-F's.

Selective service is not only concerned with keeping a steady flow of men going into military service but has the added responsibility of supervising a smaller line coming from the ranks of the armed forces—the wounded, the nerve-wrecked and the incapacitated.

VET TRYING TO ENLIST

Kittanning, Nov. 22.—(P)—Samuel L. Lloyd went to New Cumberland today, hoping to become a member of the U. S. Army for the third time. He was discharged two times previously, the latest after he lost an eye in an accident at Schofield barracks, Hawaii, in May, 1941.

MORE RED TAPE

Pittsburgh, Nov. 22.—(P)—Pennsylvania motorists will be required to have both 1943 and 1944 license numbers on gasoline ration coupons after issuance of new automobile plates in April, the district OPA announced yesterday.

Russians Fight Off Violent Attacks East of Zhitomir

German Positions at Krivoi Rog, Inside Dnieper Bend Seriously Menaced

MANY REPORTED SLAIN

By HENRY C. CASSIDY

Moscow, Nov. 22.—(P)—German positions at Krivoi Rog, key city inside the Dnieper bend, were menaced today by a new Russian offensive thrust apparently designed to divert Nazi forces from attacking in the Korostyshev sector on the northern Ukraine front.

Front line dispatches said the latest Russian assaults south of Kremenchug, one of the original Soviet bridgeheads on the west bank of the Dnieper, had smashed enemy resistance yesterday and overrun eight Nazi defense bases there. About 3,000 Germans were reported slain and 60 tanks knocked out in the fighting.

The thrust added to the difficulties already confronting the Nazis, but they continued to press their attacks in the Korostyshev area west of Kiev, though they had nothing to show for their efforts but heavy losses in men and machines since recapturing Zhitomir.

A Russian communique said yesterday that in one sector of the Korostyshev area the Germans launched three consecutive tank attacks which were hurled back by artillery fire. A wave of infantry was also smashed with heavy losses and another attack cost the Nazis 1,000 dead, the bulletin said.

The Korostyshev sector is 60 miles west of Kiev and 20 miles east of Zhitomir, which the Red army gave up Friday.

Southwest of Dnepropetrovsk in the Dnieper bend the Russians continued to push their own offensive, capturing several heavily fortified German strongholds and the railway station of Nezabudino. In the battle for the station 900 Germans were declared to have been killed.

In the Cherkassy sector, north of Kremenchug and below Kiev, Russian artillery which had moved across the Dnieper river to a new bridgehead was reported shelling the enemy lines as the Red army ground steadily through thickly fortified positions on the outskirts of Cherkassy.

In the Reichitsa area on the White Russian front west of Gomel, where the Russians are driving toward the pre-war Polish border, the Soviet communique said more than 20 popular places were captured. Guerrillas, harrying the Germans from the rear, were said to have disorganized German defenses.

EIGHTH ARMY IS ADVANCING DESPITE RAINS

Capture of San Pietro Avellana, West of Agnone Reported by Headquarters

AIDED BY CANADIANS

Allied Headquarters, Algiers, Nov. 22.—(P)—British Eighth Army forces have captured San Pietro Avellana, 10 miles due west of Agnone and only three and one-half miles short of the high-way junction of Castel Di Sangro, headquarters announced today.

This advance on the central sector of the Eighth Army line also engulfed Vastogardis to the southeast of San Pietro. Occupation of Agnone was announced only yesterday.

The drive, as carried out despite continued heavy rains which wrenched the entire battle area.

The communique disclosed the arrival of a large number of Canadians to swell the Allied forces smashing against the Germans.

The headquarters bulletin also announced that British destroyers intercepted an enemy convoy of small craft in the Adriatic off San Benedetto, midway between Ancona, Pescara, and sank one lighter and possibly another.

Medium bombers also attacked the west coast port of Civitavecchia above Rome while light bombers attacked Ancona on the east coast.

Germans retiring before the Eighth Army lunge west of Agnone were destroying two towns in their path.

By driving into Agnone, Gen. Sir Bernard L. Montgomery's troops wiped out an eight-mile deep salient the enemy had held in Allied territory. This forward lunge cleared the Vasto-Isernia highway and shortened the line.

Montgomery's men knocked the Nazis out of Archi and adjoining hill positions in sharp combat.

The mountain villages of Castel San Vincenzo and Rocchetta were occupied in a three-mile drive in the upper Volturno region northwest of Isernia where Lt. Gen. Mark W. Clark's Fifth Army troops are getting set for a plunge toward the highway center of Castel De Sangro.

SEEK SURVIVORS OF TANKER COLLISION

Lewes, Del., Nov. 22.—(P)—Coast Guard craft continued searching today for survivors of two tankers which collided in dense fog 58 miles off Cape Henlopen and injuring others.

The Fourth Naval District said last night that 39 survivors have been located here.

Following the collision, one of the tankers caught fire, but the navy reported that a tug had the disabled vessel in tow and that the flames had been brought under control.

The other ship, although damaged, was able to proceed under its own power to an unidentified Atlantic port.

Relief Association Seeks Contributions

Citizens of the community are reminded that for the first time in many years the Warren Relief Association will not make its distribution of the traditional Thanksgiving baskets, but will issue food orders to a carefully selected list of needy families, a decision made necessary because of the wartime rationing of food.

The new plan will require a considerable sum of money to cover the costs of the orders and those in charge of the project are renewing an appeal for contributions. Those desiring to help are reminded to make contributions to Mrs. H. R. Fisher, treasurer, The Warren Relief Association, Warren, Pa.

Association officials are making every effort to make certain that no deserving family go hungry this Thanksgiving. Send in your money or checks at once.

Twenty Bears Killed During Bear Season in This County

Game Protector George Norris reports this morning that the best check which he can secure shows that 20 bears were killed in the county. There may have been others shot by out of county hunters who loaded their kill on their cars and went home before a report could be made. However, report must be made to Harrisburg relative to the kill and figures will be obtained within a few weeks when an authentic check-up is made.

There were no serious accidents reported in the county during the entire bear hunting season. In this the hunters were most fortunate as in some sections on the opening day of the season there was much heavy shooting.

The next surge into the woods will take place November 29 when the deer season gets under way. It is expected there will be a great army of hunters moving in and that many camps will be open until the close of the regular season on December 11th.

Lumber In War Effort Great Need

Lumber is one of the greatest needs in the war effort, according to the men in charge of the army and navy. The government in these two branches of the service is using immense quantities of lumber and is urging that there be no letdown in production.

To that end the U. S. Forestry Department is scanning the work in this state carefully and last week one of the investigators was in this county going over the situation. The draft has taken hundreds of the young men out of work in the woods and much of the woods work is now in the hands of older men. The survey being made shows that 60 per cent of the need of workers is now in the woods, while in the mills there is a 20 per cent shortage, skilled sawyers and other employees. In fact, an effort is being made to have draft boards defer skilled sawyers as it takes young, skilled men to handle the high speed machinery now used in sawmills. One local mill, through the drafting of its sawyer, would have to close, but a deferment was secured. One big Williamsport mill may have to close and throw 50 men out of work, so drastic is the need.

The survey shows 14 mills now in operation in this county. While most of them are small mills, there are one or two operations in the county that are turning out some heavy production.

In this connection it is of interest to note that the Forestry Department has been hard hit by the war and that the Kane Experimental Station is the only one in the east that is still active in operations.

Gunner Dies In Prison Of Germany

Mr. and Mrs. Neil Hanson, Bradford RD 1, have been advised by the International Red Cross that their son, Technical Sergeant Gerald Hanson, reportedly missing in action, had died in a German prison camp on October 14. The telegram expressed deep sympathy.

The young man was serving with a bombing squadron and was a tail gunner on a Flying Fortress which took part in the heavy raid on Schweinfurt in which a large number of bombers were shot down by the Germans.

Gerald Hanson was born in Clarion, August 4, 1914, and has many relatives and friends in this vicinity. He is survived by his parents, in Bradford; one sister, Ruth Rinfrette, and one brother, Richard, both of Bradford.

Damaged Cars In Crash In Early Hours

John Frozen, of Kinzua, at 12:45 this morning did damage of about $500 to his own and three other automobiles when in driving east on Pennsylvania avenue he swerved across the street and rammed into the head car of three parked machines. The cars were jammed together and the damage will run close to $500 on all four machines. Frozen had reached a point near the Culver Diner when the crash took place. The head parked car was owned by Ernest Albert Winger, of Lackawanna, N. Y. and it struck a car owned by Earl W. Lyole, of Warren, which in turn was forced into one owned by Oke Hagstrom.

Police were called and Frozen was placed under arrest on a charge of reckless driving. The man was also examined by a physician to determine whether or not he was drunk.

Owners of the three parked cars will meet with Frozen at police headquarters today to determine if Frozen can pay for the damages done. At the time of his arrest he had over $100 on his person.

One of the Bell Telephone operators attended a dance in a local hall Saturday night and some person took her pocketbook. It contained over $40 in cash, ration books, compact and other effects. The pocketbook was found Sunday morning by E. W. Patchen near the Central fire station but the valuables had been abstracted.

A couple of Saturday night celebrators were also in the cell room cooling off and Sunday morning vowed to follow the straight and narrow path.

BOND COMMITTEE

The American Legion Auxiliary's War Bond committee will meet at two o'clock Tuesday afternoon in Room 201 of the Warren National Bank building to hear a talk by Mrs. E. Gamill Hamilton, chairman of the women's division of the Warren County War Bond Committee.

SHOT COYOTE

While hunting near Hearts Content last week Nathan L. Timmis, manager of the Rosemont Farm near Franklin shot a coyote. The animal weighed 65 pounds. This is evidently one of the coyotes that have been running near the Owls Nest in Elk county and strayed over into this county.

Mrs. Alma Moore was given emergency treatment and admitted to Warren General Hospital shortly afternoon Saturday when she was injured in a collision of a motorcycle and truck on Park street. Mrs. Moore was riding in the sidecar of her husband's motorcycle when a tire blew out and the machine crashed into a truck owned by Ed Abplanalp and driven by Robert Trushel. She received injuries to her right leg and X-rays were taken to determine their extent.

NEW LISTS OF LEGAL TOPS COMING

New lists of Community Ceiling Prices (used to call 'em Legal Top Prices) for Warren, Venango, Forest and Clarion counties have reached the Warren Price Clerk's office from the district OPA headquarters in Erie. They will soon be distributed to all Warren county food stores by Price Panel Assistants. These price sheets will then be posted by the grocer in a place where the customer can easily read them.

The Warren Times-Mirror is cooperating with the OPA in keeping down costs by offering to publish these new ceiling prices soon. They will cover one whole page of the paper, as there are almost 50 food items included, showing four ceiling prices, for the four different groups of stores.

Many women who signed the Home Front Pledge during the September drive asked for a list of ceiling prices to check before going shopping. At first it seemed impossible to get this as the OPA has not a penny to spend for this. But now they are to be printed. It is hoped that this list will be saved by every subscriber and checked before she goes shopping.

As one pledge-signer put it: "I'd like to have my own price list so that I could check prices before I go into the store. It saves my time and the necessity to check over the grocer's list while he waits. Every woman who wants to help our boys in the service will gladly do their tiny part—checking to be sure they're buying at ceiling prices."

These new price lists which go into effect about November 26, will be published before the first of December if possible.

"Keep watching the Times-Mirror for this full-page list of prices," is the chairman of the Panel's advice.

FATHER DRAFT

The decision to put pre-Pearl Harbor fathers at the bottom of the draft list, instead of banning their induction completely, seems proper and sound. It is to be hoped, however, that the bill leaves no doubt about one thing—that such fathers must be deferred until all others who are available have been taken.

Distribution of different classifications varies from one locality to another. All non-fathers may be taken from one draft area while there still are thousands available elsewhere. The matter of preserving homes as long as possible should be considered on a national basis, not on that of individual localities. Every non-father in the States, who can pass the tests, should be inducted before the first father is taken.

CAROL, DEMOCRAT

The publicity buildup to convince the American public that former King Carol of Rumania is a clean, decent, capable, pro-democratic person, who should be invited to set up an anti-Axis Free Rumanian government, should be worth watching.

Nobody can take exception to the method being employed. It is all out in the open. A professional publicist has been retained to present Carol's case in "a story mostly chocked full of Nazi lies."

Our immediate reaction is skeptical. We feel reasonably certain that the war can be won without Carol. Nevertheless, we are open to reason—not sentiment, not flubdubbery, but reasonable, logical facts.

The Grim Reaper has taken a heavy toll of valued and respected citizens of Warren and vicinity in the past week, in the passing of Bert W. Marrer, Homer G. Swick, W. Ross Sager and Frank C. Baldensperger, along with John O. Lounsbury of Scandia and Frank M. Kingsley of Clarendon Heights.

If you see more hamburger in your market and less of the tough stewing or braising meat, it is because OPA recently made changes allowing more of the tough meats to go into hamburger. Quick-cooking hamburger is particularly suitable for war-time cookery, and you don't have to give any points for bone.

Keep it mind a waste paper drive is planned for December 6th—anniversary of the Jap treachery at Pearl Harbor.

You'd better begin saving twine that comes on packages for your Christmas mailing.

YEARS AGO IN WARREN

Interesting Items Taken From The Warren Evening Times

In 1923

Rotarians yesterday heard an excellent talk by M. T. Yamamoto, of Japan. He was especially happy in congratulating Warren on its part in the relief work done recently when the Japanese people suffered in an earthquake.

On a recent warm day in Garland hundreds of little snakes were to be seen crawling about. Many were crushed on the pavement and small boys caught numbers of them. No explanation is given as to where they came from.

Walter F. Johnson, who has served as a member of the police force with much credit to himself today placed his resignation in the hands of Chief Martin Wahlen. He is a veteran of the World War and served with distinction in France.

Installation of a new switch on Pennsylvania avenue, near Liberty street, has won much attention from the passersby. The use of a cutting torch was also viewed and it sliced through the steel like it was cheese.

The Elks minstrels next week promise to present one of the best shows that they have ever given. The show has been in rehearsal for some time and the program will be a good one.

In 1933

Mrs. Vance Weld is entertaining the Blue Stocking Club with Mrs. Moore, in charge of the presentation of current topics.

Cribbage players of the Elks Club are arranging for a tourney to be held at the club during the coming weeks. According to the plans there will be two leagues in the tournament.

Fred Carlson, of Hemlock was one of the lucky hunters to get a bear in the woods of this section. The animal weighed 225 pounds.

Announcement is made that both rail and Pullman fares will be lowered for the Thanksgiving holiday. Traffic promises to be heavy and many students will be home from college for the occasion.

The annual Rural One Act Play contest will be held at Youngsville Tuesday evening December 5. Freehold, Tidoute, Starbrick and Akeley will have entries and the evening promises much of pelasure.

The present with a future—WAR BONDS for CHRISTMAS. Keep on Backing the Attack.

Washington in Wartime

By JACK STINNETT

WASHINGTON—It is doubtful if oratory in the Senate (or the whole of Congress for that matter) ever was at a lower ebb. Gone now, by defeat at the polls, are Sen. Harry F. Ashurst of Arizona, last of the great silver-tongues, who could mouth round phrases that rang in the memory for years; and Sen. George W. Norris, of Nebraska, whose forceful quotient was among the highest.

There is not even any one in the Senate now with the frenzied vitriol of young Sen. Rush Holt of West Virginia. In other words, the G.A. (gallery appeal) in Congress these days is almost nil.

But one of the oratorical greats did return to the Senate floor the other day to make what many consider one of the greatest speeches of his career. It was the aging Sen. Hiram Johnson of California, risen from a sick-bed which many of his friends feared he would never leave again. It is a phenomenon of that strange underground that operates from the capitol that although there was no announcement that he would speak he had no more gained his feet than floor and galleries were filled.

THROUGHOUT most of his speech he supported himself by holding on to the edge of his desk. His voice often quavered with physical weakness. Gone was that peculiar delivery of rocking from one foot to the other and punctuating his phrases by jabbing a finger at first the toe of one shoe and then the other. His speech was brief, hardly 500 words.

For a quarter of a century Senator Johnson had been an unwavering noninterventionist. He was a ringleader of that little group which blocked our entry into the League of Nations. He had come to the Senate today merely to apologize for not participating in the fight on the Connally postwar foreign policy resolution. He explained that his wife and his physicians had pleaded that he not take part in this debate, for fear of retarding the recovery which now seemed certain.

HE EXPLAINED that was why "I have naught to say in this great moment which deals with the country which I love and which has been mine ever since I was born. Seventy-seven years I have passed, and in those 77 years I have known no allegiance but to the United States of America."

"God save the United States of America. God give to her all that she should have. God preserve her in the days to come. I know what they will bring. I have been through such days. But God be good to us and permit us to resist, and permit us to be the country we have ever been."

"So, with this prayer for our country that it may be protected and preserved in the days to come as in the days which have passed, I exhort my colleagues and my fellow countrymen that we all be just Americans. God bless America."

A Senator Johnson slipped wearily into his chair, there was the tribute of silence, broken only by some who blew their noses a little too vigorously. Many who had been his friends or foes for years didn't bother even with that subterfuge; they just openly dabbed their eyes.

It was only an alphabetical coincidence, of course, but a strange one. When the final vote on Connally's resolution was taken and 85 Senators had voted for it, the first name on that list of five who wanted no part in committing the United States to postwar foreign policies, was that of Senator Hiram W. Johnson.

Hollywood Gossip

By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—Eddie Cantor, the grey temporarily out of his black hair, was reliving his youth, movie version.

He was up on the stage of Miner's Bowery theater, singing "The Curse of an Aching Heart," trembling in his shoddy, tight-fitting suit, and momentarily awaiting the hook from the wings. It was at an amateur night at Miner's that Eddie made his first theatrical dollar. In real life the skinny, big-eyed kid won first prize for his impersonations of then famous stage people nobody remembers now; in the picture he wins the prize for singing. Actually the prize purse was $5; in the movie it's $10—the movies have to be colossal, don't they?

THAT'S the way Eddie's new film is. It's a little of Cantor's life, mixed in with a fictional story about four people in the theatrical game. The other three are Joan Davis, the knockabout gal, George Murphy and Constance Moore. Now and again something from Eddie's life story comes into the plot, including inevitably the five daughters, but in the main it's fiction. One of the most dramatic episodes in Cantor's real-life story, for instance, is brushed off with a reference. In 1929 Cantor, ding high, took a fall down the back market chute. He was bustled back to make a second tune and a new career. All this covered with a reference to

Eddie Cantor's own humorous account of the crash, "Caught Short." Probably that's because Eddie is realizing in "Show Business" a cherished ambition to be his own producer. He couldn't very well produce an epic story of his own life. But a story of show business in general—who knows more about show business?

AS FOR movie production,—"Well, I've produced my own radio show for 13 years now, and each show runs 30 minutes, or about one-third of a movie," he says. In other words, he thought it about time he were allowed to wrestle with a picture, and Charles Koerner, the RKO boss, has done the allowing.

"He seems to have confidence in me," Eddie remarks. "Gave me a $1,000,000 budget and said to go ahead—and so far he hasn't thought it necessary to come to the set."

Other episodes from the Cantor life story are numbers from a Palace theater vaudeville bill (1917) in which Eddie's pal George Jessel, Pat Rooney and Bert Gordon will appear, from the 1924 Ziegfeld Follies, and from Cantor's musical hit, "Whoopie."

As for songs, there'll be "Dinah," "They're Wearin' Em High in Hawaii," "It Had to Be You," "I Want a Girl Just Like the Girl That Married Dear Old Dad," "I Don't Wanna Get Well," "Alabama Bound" and "Whoopie"—enough to fill a dozen aisles with nostalgic tears and chuckles.

Final Report in YMCA Call To Membership This Evening

An exceptionally good report is necessary when the Y. M. C. A. Call to Membership workers meet this evening at 6:30 o'clock if the campaign for 600 new and renewal members is to reach a successful conclusion. Friday night's report of a total of 256 members was below expectation, leaving 344 memberships to be secured over the weekend.

If the more than sixty workers in the organization were able to devote sufficient time to cover the large number of un-reached prospects in the last three days, the goal may still be achieved by tonight. In the "Y" membership effort, as in other campaigns in Warren, the workers have always "put it over" and they are, at the hour the Times-Mirror goes to press, busily trying to sign up the needed number of members before tonight.

Many friends of the Y. M. C. A. and participants in its program habitually wait for the annual campaign to arrange for continuation of their memberships. With everyone so much busier these days, some of these people may not be reached within the official campaign period. Such persons could, if they would, help the campaign workers reach their goal by telephoning the "Y" office and authorizing the inclusion of their memberships in tonight's report.

Chief-of-Staff Howard Alexander presided Friday night at the 9 o'clock meeting and called upon the Captains for their reports. The first official report of the campaign was ealed Company No. 2, Don Mowell, Capt., as leading the field with 33 members and 3005 points to their credit. The second-place group Friday night was Company No. 6, H. T. Flowers, Capt., with 31 members and 2820 points. Next in order was Company No. 3, of which G. G. Lind is captain, showing a total of 9 members and 2503 points. Tieg Lind's aggregation in points was Company No. 9, captained by Byron W. Knapp, whose total members were 26. Tonight suitable recognition will be given the company which leads in points for the entire campaign.

Every man of the campaign organization who can possibly do so is asked to be present for tonight's meeting, and to help make it a Victory meeting.

Service Club Scores a Hit With Soldiers

Sgt. Ralph Leary, recently promoted to that rank while serving somewhere in the Pacific and whose parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Leary moved from Warren to Jamestown about a year ago, writes with a great deal of enthusiasm concerning work that the American Red Cross is doing in its special service department.

A Service Club has been established, he writes, for men stationed at this outpost. "We have a small remodeled hotel for our service club and it is sponsored by the Red Cross," he writes. "Final meals are provided at the price of 20 cents for breakfast and 25 cents for lunch and dinner. To give you an idea of the food, here is what we had this morning: Pancakes, bacon, sausage, cornflakes, toast and coffee. The prospect for lunch is roast lamb, vegetable soup, roast potatoes, green beans and pineapple pie, plus tea or coffee. One of the wonderful things about all this is that the food is served on small tables covered with tablecloths. The silverware and good china and the food served in good restaurant style is also appreciated."

In addition to the restaurant, Sgt. Leary tells of a writing room, game room and lounge which have been prepared for the service men who have short leaves or passes in town. He also cites a soda and ice cream bar where men may buy cigarettes, candy, ice cream, sandwich and soft drinks, and concludes:

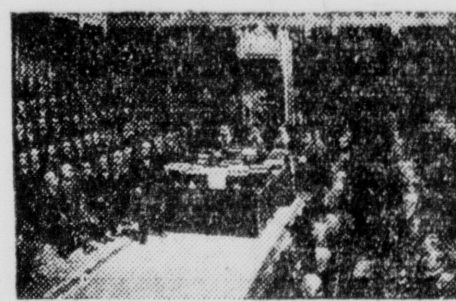

"We want to extend our thanks to all those who have given their time and money that we might have this. It has not been merely the Red Cross and Service Club that have done these things, but also you folks at home who have placed your interest and money into our interests. May God bless you all."

Tank Town, U.S.A.

In Parliament—The voice of Winston Churchill is a Tank Town echo as he says of Rommel and the tanks: "The Lees and the Grants stopped him at El Alamein. The Sherman defeated him."

"What Do You Mean—Tank Town?"

Why, it's the Detroit (Chrysler) Tank Arsenal where U. S. Army tanks are made.

Some have called it the tank capital of the world.

Started and finished on farmland in the fall and winter of 1940-41. It was going strong many months before we got into the war.

It doubled and redoubled its production—time and time again.

Its main street is all indoors—a multi-lane manufacturing highway, down through the vast arsenal building.

Its freight depot sees the big boys loaded on their flatcars—en route eventually to worldwide battlefronts.

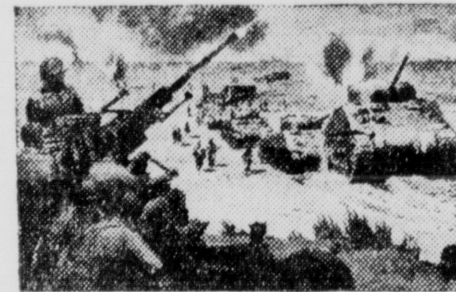

Its schools, hospital, restaurants, police force, testing tracks—all serve Tank Town and its hustling army and civilian population as it works night and day.

The TANK TOWN story is now being told in Action, the world over. It is a story of production skill and effort at home and fighting ability and stamina abroad.

Sheffield Properties of M.-W. Co. Sold After Long Holding

A commercial dynasty reaching back into the days of the Civil War came to an official end today with the announcement by W. H. Wright, president of the Metzger-Wright Company, that the last remaining properties of the company in Sheffield had been transferred.

Metzger-Wright participation in the commercial life of Sheffield, with that of its corporate predecessors, goes back to about the year 1864 or 1865, when the original store was in operation. This store was owned by the Horton Cray Company, which became a dominant factor in the industrial life of northwestern Pennsylvania. The Sheffield Tannery, one of its important enterprises was completed in 1867. One of the various store buildings associated with the company was constructed probably in the latter 1860's or early 1870's. Another building constructed in 1881, which housed the main commercial operations for many years, was burned to the ground in 1932.

The two buildings involved in the present sale are the "Post Office Building" which was purchased by S. L. Sherman of Warren, and a brick building at No. 1 to 11 Center Street, purchased by Nik Zepp of Sheffield. Both will be operated as rental properties by their new owners. The Post Office building was originally leased by Horton Cray Company to the C. H. Smith Company.

The latter organization, founded by a former employee of Horton Cray Company, C. H. Smith, was rapidly becoming a prominent factor in the commercial life of this area. On April 7, 1904, the C. H. Smith Company purchased buildings occupied by Horton Cray and made plans for the erection of a new building. The firm had been organized in 1895 under the style of "C. H. Smith Company, Ltd." In 1909 the name was changed to C. H. Smith Company and it was revealed that the capital of the firm, which had been $80,000 in 1895, had been increased to $400,000. In 1912, a C. H. Smith building on Center street near the corner of Main street was nearly destroyed by fire. In 1913, an enormous water tank was constructed to provide a supplementary water supply for the various Smith buildings, as an extra safeguard against fire. In 1914, C. H. Smith Company operated retail stores in Ridgway, Wilcox, Arroyo, Instanter, Portland Mills, Sheffield, Warren, and Oil City. The Oil City store was purchased from the Smart Silberberg Company the previous owners having been the first partners of C. E. Metzger when he opened his store in Warren in 1896. The C. H. Smith Co. also operated numerous wholesale establishments, one of which survives as the Smith and Horton Company.

Always playing an active part in the affairs of Sheffield and other northwestern Pennsylvania communities, the C. H. Smith merged with the Metzger-Wright Company in the year 1919. In 1922, C. E. Metzger, W. W. Wright, and associates, purchased the Smith interest. In 1923, the name of the firm was changed from Smith-Metzger-Wright Company to Metzger-Wright Company, with C. E. Metzger, president, and W. W. Wright, vice president. W. W. Wright became president upon the death of C. E. Metzger in 1931. He was succeeded by S. W. Metzler of Uniontown upon his death in 1935, who was, in turn, succeeded by the present president, W. H. Wright.

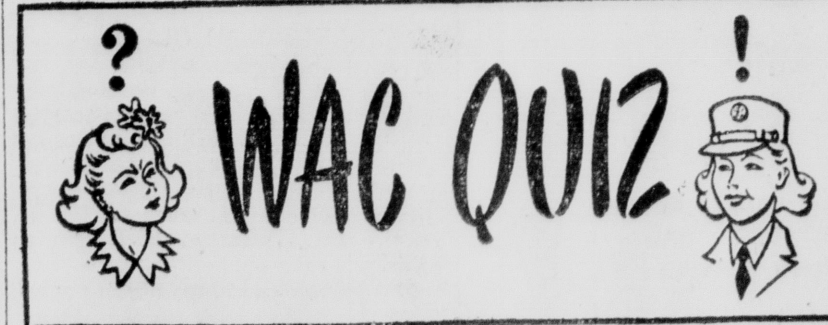

Many properties were at one time included in the enterprise of the Sheffield concern. Present titles go back in an unbroken line to a patent issue in 1792, and include properties purchased from W. P. McClure, Morris Einstein, Horace Cray, James Farrell, Gordon McKillep, Edward K. Pratt, B. B. Bowen, Allen and Nelson Company, and Jerry Cray. Actual commercial operations in Sheffield ceased with the destruction by fire of the main store in 1932. Other Metzger-Wright properties in Sheffield have been disposed of in recent years.

THERE IS no substitute for newspaper advertising.

Serve Cloverbloom Turkey on Thursday!

Turkey day is here again and we want to make just one suggestion: Try to get Armour's Cloverbloom Turkey. There are a fair number available. They're plump, tender and tasty—sure to make Thanksgiving a success.

Clean turkey carefully, removing all pinfeathers. Wash, dry and rub inside body cavity with salt. Stuff (recipe follows), truss and rub all over with melted butter, margarine or other fat. Turn breast down on rack in open roasting pan and roast in 325° F. oven as follows:

6-10 lb. stuffed wt.—3 to 3½ hours or 20-25 minutes per pound
10-16 lb. stuffed wt.—3½ to 4½ hours or 18-20 minutes per pound
16-25 lb. stuffed wt.—4½ to 6 hours or 16-18 minutes per pound

For stuffing cook ½ cup chopped onion in ¼ cup butter or margarine until clear. Remove and pour over 3 quarts lightly toasted bread cubes. Add 2 tbsps. salt, ½ tsp. pepper, 1 tsp. poultry dressing, 1 tsp. chopped parsley and moisten with hot water. Garnish turkey with baked tomatoes stuffed with corn.

High School Actor Heads Veteran Cast For Players' Next Public Production

A high school youth has been chosen to play the male lead in the Warren Players' next public production, it was revealed today with the announcement of the complete cast for "Heaven Can Wait," the comedy-phantasy from which the movie, "Here Comes Mr. Jordan," was adapted.

The young actor who will play Joe Pendleton the boxer, is Robert Wilder, who will be making his debut on the local stage. Jane MacDonald, who has appeared in several Players' productions, will play opposite Mr. Wilder in the role of Bette Logan.

One of Warren's favorite actors, Byron Knapp, has been assigned to the part of Max Levene, Pendleton's manager, who supplies the principal comedy touch. Lester Muthert will play Messenger 7013 the role made famous on the screen by Edward Everett Horton.

Returning to the Warren stage after an absence of too many years is Charles Selin in the role of Mr. Jordan, played on the screen by Claude Rains. Lucy Donaldson Fishwick will play Julia Farnsworth, with Nelson Johnson, last seen in "The Night of January 13th" as Tony Abbott.

The balance of the cast is made up of actors and actresses who can all be counted on to give excellent performances—Guinevere Knapp, who scored a hit in "The Man Who Came to Dinner"; Monty McClure, who has been a fixture in Players Club since its organization and who never fails to delight audiences; Evelyn Armstrong, who contributed much to one of the Players' most successful productions, "Outward Bound"; Doris Mayrell, who last appeared in "Stage Door"; Duane Wilder, who appeared first last season in "Watch on the Rhine"; Nick Geracimos, also a member of the cast of "The Night of January 13th"; and Wanda Hoskins, Walter Sigworth and Robert Jewell who will be appearing in their initial Players' Club public shows.

"Heaven Can Wait" will be presented Thursday and Friday, December 9-10 at the Woman's Club Auditorium.

Rehearsals under the direction of Betty Rice and Betty Field, are now in their third week, and early indications are that the Players are headed for another successful production.

WARREN
Every Moment Counts.

NOW THAT WE are launched on the big attack, and the fighting's getting tougher—fiercer—every moment counts!

Our soldiers on the battlelines cannot win this war alone. Their courage, their sacrifices can do little without the whole-hearted efforts of hundreds of thousands behind them—manning the communications systems, checking their equipment, servicing their planes, issuing their vital supplies.

And that is work that you, an American woman, can do by joining the WAC. It is work you must do now when the need is so urgent—when soldiers' lives may depend on your help.

If you are an American citizen, over 20 and under 50 years of age—if you're single or married, without dependents, without children under 14—then the Army needs you—now—in the WAC.

Go to your nearest U.S. Army Recruiting Station. Or mail the coupon below. Get full information about joining the WAC in your State's own company—now being formed. Do it today! The need is now.

(If you are ineligible for the WAC because of age or family responsibilities, take over the job of an eligible woman, and free her to join the WAC.)

Personal
Paragraphs

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Lesser left yesterday for Washington, Pa., to visit their daughter, Mrs. Elizabeth Carmichael.

Mrs. Leda Johnson, 413 Conewango avenue, has left for New York City for a ten-day visit with her daughter, Mrs. William Hawthorne, and family.

Mrs. F. G. Templeton and son, Freddie, of East street, left Saturday evening for Key West, Fla., where they will reside for the present. Capt. Templeton is assigned to the Station Hospital at Key West and expects to be there for some time.

Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Henderson, Oneida avenue, left today for Mount Dora, Fla., where they expect to make their future home. Veteran linotype operator by trade, Mr. Henderson's early days were spent on the Evening Mirror published by Ed Walker and W. D. McLaren. Away from Warren for a period of 26 years, he returned 17 years ago and was employed in the Times-Mirror composing room until his retirement a year ago. Both have been active in community affairs and will be missed in many circles.

Warren friends of V. V. Bowman, of Kane will learn with regret that while brushing shavings away from the knives of a planer at his sawmill there on Friday he had the misfortune to lose the fingers and thumb on his right hand. He was taken to the hospital where the fingers were amputated.

Alice Reig, who for many years did the engraving at the Kirberger Jewelry store is seriously ill at her home on East street. Her condition is such that her many friends are fearful that she will not recover.

In Charley Danver's Column in the Post Gazette the following relative to H. W. Correll, former Secretary of the Warren Chamber of Commerce appeared last Saturday: "I am sorry to learn that an old friend, H. W. Correll, is in the Mercy Hospital. Mr. Correll is manager of the western district of the Pennsylvania State Chamber of Commerce. He is convalescing after an operation. Though in good spirits, he will likely need a long rest before resuming his active career. On top of being a Chamber of Commerce official, Mr. Correll is a prolific author. In his spare time over a period of years he has turned out several hundred short stories and a dozen books for juveniles, writing under the name, Hal Correll."

Army-Navy Classic Tops Last College Grid Week

Seahawks' Defense Clicks

Mello, Notre Dame fullback, is tackled by Bononis of the Seahawks after gaining one yard. This action was in the first quarter of the game played at South Bend, Ind., between two unbeaten teams.

Big News of Weekend Games Is Notre Dame's 14-13 Win Over Formidable Seahawks

By TED MEIER
New York, Nov. 22.—(AP)—The college football season winds up this week with the Army-Navy traditional classic at West Point in the No. 1 spot.

There is tremendous interest, of course, in the Notre Dame-Great Lakes game at Chicago and to a lesser extent in such sectional rivalries as Penn-Cornell, Brown-Colgate, (both Thanksgiving Day), Texas-Texas Aggies, Georgia Tech-Georgia and Southern California-UCLA.

Montgomery Loses Verdict To Beau Jack

By TED MEIER
New York, Nov. 29.—(AP)—Beau Jack is back on top of the lightweight heap and he gave full credit to his new trainer, Larry Amadee.

Following Amadee's instructions to the letter the Beau, 2 to 1 underdog in the betting, regained the 135-pound title by outpointing Champion Bob Montgomery in a furious 15-rounder at Madison Square Garden last night.

Under Amadee's tutelage Jack amazed the crowd of 17,866, that contributed to a gross gate of $96,873.04, by fighting differently than he did when he lost his title to Philadelphia Bob lost May or when he was upset by Bobby Ruffin a 10-rounder only six weeks ago.

"I did just what Larry told me," the former Augusta, Ga., shoe shine boy explained in his dressing room a she was congratulated by a swarm of well-wishers, including Humphrey Bogart, screen star.

At Amadee's direction he struck close to Montgomery. He mixed willingly at close quarters, slugged it out with both fists when the referee parted them from a clinch and coasted when Amadee gave the word.

The Beau needed Amadee's sage advice because Montgomery, always a slow starter, put on a whirlwind finish in the last five rounds that all but ended the scrap with Jack being counted out.

In the last two rounds, especially, Montgomery seemed to be on the verge of a knockout triumph, but somehow the Beau stood up to cart off a unanimous decision.

The two judges each gave him 10 rounds while the referee gave him seven rounds, Montgomery six and called two even. The way we saw it Jack won eight, Montgomery six with one even.

Bears Lose To Redskins But Otherwise it is a Quiet Day In the Professional League

By DAVE HOFF
Chicago, Nov. 22.—(AP)—With Sammy Baugh and Sid Luckman both being cooled off during the battle royale of their respective teams, the Washington Redskins and Chicago Bears, professional football's weekend was virtually normal. Only two records were broken.

But the myth of the Bears' invulnerability was broken also, a legend that said they couldn't lose in regular league games. After 24 straight scheduled contests without a defeat over three seasons, the mighty Chicagoans topped before the Redskins yesterday, 21 to 7, much as they did in last year's championship scrap at Washington.

The result failed to alter the chances of either team repeating for the titles in their divisions, which means it's still pretty much of a cinch they'll play Dec. 19 in Chicago in the championship match again.

As a matter of fact, the Bears' surprising defeat probably won't hurt the box office for that title game, because Chicagoans who took the team's continuing success quite for granted may be jarred

Draft calls have thinned out the teams in this area so therefore the management is anxious to hear from all teams who have star-studded rosters. Communicate with John D. Herring, Jr., 3 Elgin street, Rochester, N. Y., for games.

ON MEAT COSTS
Akeley, Pa., Nov. 16.
Times-Mirror
Warren, Penna.
Gentlemen:

I believe the farmers throughout Warren county would surely enjoy reading this article "Beef on the Hoof."

I am told the high pressure cattle dealers are offering farmers from $6c to $1.00 for 4 week old pigs last, spring they were $15.00. For beef cattle that month, a year ago, sold at 14 and 15 cents per pound. Dealers offer 9½c and 10c cents—so you see the farmers need to read up, there has been no drop in meat prices at retail markets. The dealers are getting rich besides their subsidy.

Thank you,
Max W. Larsen.

Beefsteak on the Hoof
The extra large stockyard receipts of range cattle this Fall were due to the increase in number of cattle raised, unsettled market conditions and because cattlemen could not obtain enough feed to carry them. As a result the price for stockers and feeders has, in many instances, been fixed by their slaughter value.

While many of these feeder cattle offered a fair margin of profit, as compared to existing prices of fat cattle, farmers and cattle feeders were justified in not buying their usual number, in view of impending government price control. Another deterring factor was that corn and protein feeds could be obtained as needed. Such feeds as could be bought were higher than last year, while the price of finished cattle was lower. The last straw for cattlemen was the government price order issued on October 25. It is apparent that its authors have never been closer to a steer than a beefsteak.

The order provides for subsidy payments to slaughterers which are supposed to prevent any reduction in livestock prices. Live cattle prices, as set by grade, are required to be maintained within the following ranges: Choice $15 to $16; Good $14.25 to $15.25; Medium $12 to $13; Common $10 to $11; Balogna Bulls and Cutters and Canners $7.45 to $8.45. The subsidy payments to slaughterers, based on carcass grades are: $1 per hundredweight for Choice; for Good, $1.45; for Medium, 90 cents, and for the lower carcass grades, 50 cents.

The cattlemen's price is set on a liveweight basis, but the slaughterer's subsidy payment is established on a carcass to be graded by an official grader of the Food Distribution Administration. This method of grading provides a loophole for extra profits to slaughterers at the expense of cattlemen. It is very difficult to accurately determine the carcass grade that cattle will produce prior to slaughter, especially in the Medium and Good grades. If a slaughterer purchases a steer which he grades as Medium on a liveweight basis, its carcass may be 1 ter graded as Good by the official grader. Thus the slaughterer will receive an unearned bonus of 50 cents per hundredweight. The natural tendency under this system will then be for slaughterers to grade cattle low when purchasing. This could be avoided if there was an official grading of liveweight cattle, as well as of carcasses.

As matters stand now, many people will quit feeding cattle. As soon as present slaughter supplies are gone, there will be a real beef shortage. Not only will the usual number of feeder cattle not be purchased for fattening on Corn Belt and Eastern farms, but at the prices now set, the lighter weight and lower grade cattle will be favored.

Letters to the Editor

ALF scratched his head with his idle hand. This new guy was apparently okay, but he asked too many questions. "You got me, buddy," he said, "how many screws could they have bought?"

"How many men are there in the rigging department?" "About sixty, I'd say, on two shifts."

"Then, figuring sixty men's pay, at an average of say sixty cents per hour for six weeks..." Pete reached down and picked up an old Personnel Pass from the floor. He did some quick figuring.

"That's different. You're okay."

THE time passed slowly. Pete rubbed and polished tubing first with one hand and then the other, until both arms ached. From time to time he would stop and stretch before going on with his monotonous task.

Occasionally, Barker came around and passed a friendly word and once Tim Brandon walked by and stopped long enough to ask how he was getting along.

"Say, Alf," Pete asked suddenly, "you say we're out of screws for this ship? Do you mean to tell me that they can't buy screws?"

"Well, no," Alf answered. "Some parts are slow coming in, but screws can still be had. Somebody in the purchasing department fall down on the job and didn't order enough. You see, they didn't figure on any screws being lost or ruined."

"Do you mean to tell me they ordered just enough screws for the ships to be built on the contract?"

"Yep, that's what they did. Figured it down to the exact number. Some of Mr. Kah's efficiency methods."

"How long have you been out of screws?"

Alf pondered for a moment. "Offhand, I'd say about six weeks."

"Then, for six weeks the company has been paying a bunch of men to do nothing but 'chase the dog'?"

"How many screws could they have bought for the money they paid the men to chase the dog for six weeks?"

"Alf scratched his head with his idle hand. This new guy was apparently okay, but he asked too many questions. 'You got me, buddy,' he said, 'how many screws could they have bought?'"

Twenty Bears Killed During Bear Season in This County

Game Protector George Norris reports this morning that the best check which he can secure shows that 20 bears were killed in the county. There may have been others shot by out of county hunters who loaded their kill on their cars and went home before a report could be made. However, report must be made to Harrisburg relative to the kill and figures will be obtained within a few weeks when an authentic check-up is made.

There were no serious accidents reported in the county during the entire bear hunting season. In this the hunters were most fortunate as in some sections on the opening day of the season there was much heavy shooting.

The next surge into the woods will take place November 29 when the deer season gets under way. It is expected there will be a great army of hunters moving in and that many camps will be open until the close of the regular season on December 11th.

Following the regular season there will be three days of deer hunting afforded when antlerless deer may be legally shot. These days are December 13, 14 and 15. Special permits have been exhausted in this county for the deer season.

"The deer herd is too overbalanced in antlerless deer," said Mr. Norris this morning. "I have noted that the proportion of does to bucks is heavy and I feel that there are about 10 does to one buck over the county in the herd. I have observed. It will be a good thing to have a heavy kill but much of that will depend on the weather."

Ray Bimber, veteran hunter, agrees with Mr. Norris that the proportion of does to bucks is too great and he stated that while bear hunting last week he saw 22 deer, most of them does, in one day and on another day counted 10 deer, mostly does.

Lumber In War Effort Great Need

Lumber is one of the greatest needs in the war effort, according to the men in charge of the army and navy. The government in these two branches of the service is using immense quantities of lumber and is urging that there be no letdown in production.

To that end the U. S. Forestry Department is scanning the work in this state carefully and last week one of the investigators was in this county going over the situation. The draft has taken hundreds of the young men out of work in the woods and much of the woods work is now in the hands of older men. The survey being made shows that 50 per cent of the need of workers is now in the woods, while in the mills there is a 20 per cent shortage, skilled sawyers and other employees. In fact, an effort is being made to have draft boards defer skilled sawyers as it takes young, skilled men to handle the high speed machinery now used in sawmills. One local mill, through the drafting of its sawyer, would have to close, but a deferment was secured. One big Williamsport mill may have to close and throw 50 men out of work, so drastic is the need.

The survey shows 14 mills now in operation in this county. While most of them are small mills, there are one or two operations in the county that are turning out some heavy production.

In this connection it is of interest to note that the Forestry Department has been hard hit by the war and that the Kane Experimental Station is the only one in the east that is still active in operations.

Gunner Dies In Prison Of Germany

Mr. and Mrs. Neil Hanson, Bradford RD 1, have been advised by the International Red Cross that their son, Technical Sergeant Gerald Hanson, reportedly missing in action, had died in a German prison camp on October 14. The telegram expressed deep sympathy.

The young man was serving with a bombing squadron and was a tail gunner on a Flying Fortress which took part in the heavy raid on Schweinfurt in which a large number of bombers were shot down by the Germans.

Gerald Hanson was born in Clarendon, August 4, 1914, and has many relatives and friends in this vicinity. He is survived by his parents, in Bradford; one sister, Ruth Rinfrette, and one brother, Richard, both of Bradford.

BURGESS' PROCLAMATION

The Warren County Tuberculosis Society, an integral part of the nation-wide anti-tuberculosis organization of the United States, is facing a crucial year due to war-time conditions. Thousands of Warren people are familiar with the splendid local work of this organization.

The Christmas Seal Sale is the sole support of the Warren County Tuberculosis Society and for that reason I wish to call upon the people of Warren to support, through the generous purchase of Christmas Seals, this campaign against the war-time rise of tuberculosis in Warren.

TIMES TOPICS

IMPORTANT MEETING

All persons interested in discussion of a community recreational program for young people are asked to attend a meeting to be held at eight o'clock this evening in the YWCA activities building.

SUNDAY HIKE ENJOYED

The Allegheny Hiking Club's contemplated journey yesterday afternoon was cancelled because of the steady rain at the starting time, which continued during most of the afternoon. Members are hoping for a better day next Sunday.

HAS INCREASED PRICE

Owing to the rising costs of production the Sneathport Miner will advance its subscription price to $2.50 per year on January 1, 1944. The Miner, a progressive weekly, has delayed action in raising its price but found it necessary as have countless other papers in this vicinity.

ON STATE COMMITTEE

Telford Eppley, of the Erie Y. M. C. A. staff and formerly with the local association, has been named by the state director, W. Haines Kent, as a member of a committee which will draw up a statewide program for the centennial anniversary of the YMCA next year.

PASSED UP A BEAR

Saturday a group of Warren business men were out in quest of small game and their dog began barking close to a large brush heap. Investigating they saw a big black bear in the thicket. He was evidently not frightened by the dog. The hunters did not want any bear meat so called off their dog and went on their way leaving the bear to resume his rudely interrupted slumbers.

MEN'S BROTHERHOOD

Lt. John Bleach, home on furlough after completion of 50 bombing missions over the Mediterranean and Italy, will be guest speaker for a meeting of the United Brethren Men's Brotherhood to be held at the church at 7:30 Tuesday evening. ### PEDESTRIAN HIT

Oscar Sandstrom, aged about 60, an employee of the Endeavor Lumber Co., is a patient in the Warren General hospital with a compound fracture of one leg sustained when he was struck while walking along the highway near West Hickory. According to the state motor police the operator of the car was Mrs. Fred Eaton, of West Hickory. The accident occurred about 7:30 o'clock Saturday morning. No blame was attached to the driver.

REGISTRATION NOT HEAVY

Registration for liquor in Warren at the end of the first week only saw about 400 persons enrolled to their fifth and pint as allowed by law until December 31st. Already the argument has started as to what to do on New Years as the liquor store will be closed on New Years day and while the rationing date expires on the 31st, there will be a time lapse so that supplies can be replenished. Unless there is a brake put on the consumption of the old home supply there won't be much merriment on New Years eve unless one visits a driver.

Damaged Cars In Crash In Early Hours

John Prozen, of Kinzua, at 12:45 this morning did damage of about $500 to his own and three other automobiles when in driving east on Pennsylvania avenue he swerved across the street and rammed into the head car of three parked machines. The cars were jammed together and the damage will run close to $500 on all four machines.

Prozen had reached a point near the Culver Dinor when the crash took place. The head parked car was owned by Ernest Albert Winger, of Lackawanna, N. Y. and it struck a car owned by Earl W. Lyole, of Warren, which in turn was forced into one owned by Oke Hagstrom.

Police were called and Prozen was placed under arrest on a charge of reckless driving. The man was also examined by a physician to determine whether or not he was drunk.

Owners of the three parked cars will meet with Prozen at police headquarters today to determine if Prozen can pay for the damages done. At the time of his arrest he had over $100 on his person.

One of the Bell Telephone operators attended a dance in a local hall Saturday night and some persons took her pocketbook. It contained over $40 in cash, ration books, compact and other effects. The pocketbook was found Sunday morning by E. W. Patchen near the Central fire station but the valuables had been abstracted.

A couple of Saturday night celebrators were also in the cell room cooling off and Sunday morning vowed to follow the straight and narrow path.

BOND COMMITTEE

The American Legion Auxiliary's War Bond committee will meet at two o'clock Tuesday afternoon in Room 201 of the Warren National Bank building to hear a talk by Mrs. E. Gamill Hamilton, chairman of the women's division of the Warren County War Bond Committee.

SHOT COYOTE

While hunting near Hearts Content last week Nathan L. Timmis, manager of the Rosemont Farm near Franklin shot a coyote. The animal weighed 65 pounds. This is evidently one of the coyotes that have been running near the Owls Nest in Elk county and strayed over into this county.

INJURED IN CRASH

Mrs. Alma Moore was given emergency treatment and admitted to Warren General Hospital shortly after noon Saturday when she was injured in a collision of a motorcycle and truck on Park street. Mrs. Moore was riding in the sidecar of her husband's motorcycle when a tire blew out and the machine crashed into a truck owned by Ed Abplanalp and driven by Robert Trusiel. She received injuries to her right leg and X-rays were taken to determine their extent.

NEW LISTS OF LEGAL TOPS COMING

New lists of Community Ceiling Prices (used to call 'em Legal Top Prices) for Warren, Venango, Forest and Clarion counties have reached the Warren Price Clerk's office from the district OPA headquarters in Erie. They will soon be distributed to all Warren county food stores by Price Panel Assistants. These price sheets will then be posted by the grocer in a place where the customer can easily read them.

The Warren Times-Mirror is cooperating with the OPA in keeping down costs by offering to publish these new ceiling prices soon. They will cover one whole page of the paper, as there are almost 50 food items included, showing four ceiling prices, for the four different groups of stores.

Many women who signed the Home Front Pledge during the September drive asked for a list of ceiling prices to check before going shopping. At first it seemed impossible to get this as the OPA has not a penny to spend for this. But now they are to be printed. It is hoped that this list will be saved by every subscriber and checked before she goes shopping.

As one pledge-signer put it: "I'd like to have my own price list so that I could check prices before I go into the store. It saves my time and the necessity to check over the grocer's list while he waits. Every woman who wants to help our boys in the service will gladly do their tiny part—checking to be sure they're buying at ceiling prices."

These new price lists which go into effect about November 26, will be published before the first of December if possible.

"Keep watching the Times-Mirror for this full-page list of prices," is the chairman of the Panel's advice.

FATHER DRAFT

The decision to put pre-Pearl Harbor fathers at the bottom of the draft list, instead of banning their induction completely, seems proper and sound. It is to be hoped, however, that the bill leaves no doubt about one thing—that such fathers must be deferred until all others who are available have been taken.

Distribution of different classifications varies from one locality to another. All non-fathers may be taken from one draft area while there still are thousands available elsewhere. The matter of preserving homes as long as possible should be considered on a national basis, not on that of individual localities. Every non-father in the States, who can pass the tests, should be inducted before the first father is taken.

CAROL, DEMOCRAT

The publicity buildup to convince the American public that former King Carol of Rumania is a clean, decent, capable, pro-democratic person, who should be invited to set up an anti-Axis Free Rumanian government, should be worth watching.

Nobody can take exception to the method being employed. It is all out in the open. A professional publicist has been retained to present Carol's case in the best possible light, in offset to what is described as "a story mostly chocked full of Nazi lies."

Our immediate reaction is skeptical. We feel reasonably certain that the war can be won without Carol. Nevertheless, we are open to reason—not sentiment, not fluidubbery, but reasonable, logical facts.

The Grim Reaper has taken a heavy toll of valued and respected citizens of Warren and vicinity in the past week, in the passing of Bert W. Marrer, Homer G. Swick, W. Ross Sager and Frank C. Baldensperger, along with John O. Lounsbury of Scandia and Frank M. Kingsley of Clarendon Heights.

If you see more hamburger in your market and less of the tough stewing or braising meat, it is because OPA recently made changes allowing more of the tough meats to go into hamburger. Quick-cooking hamburger is particularly suitable for war-time cookery, and you don't have to give any points for home.

Keep in mind a waste paper drive is planned for December 24—anniversary of the 34th treachery at Pearl Harbor.

You'd better begin saving time that comes on packages for your Christmas mailing.

YEARS AGO IN WARREN

Interesting Items Taken From The Warren Evening Times

In 1923 Rotarians yesterday heard an excellent talk by M. T. Yamamoto, of Japan. He was especially happy in congratulating Warren on its part in the relief work done recently when the Japanese people suffered in an earthquake.

On a recent warm day in Garland hundreds of little snakes were to be seen crawling about. Many were crushed on the pavement and small boys caught numbers of them. No explanation is given as to where they came from.

Walter F. Johnson, who has served as a member of the police force with much credit to himself today placed his resignation in the hands of Chief Martin Wholeben. He is a veteran of the World War and served with distinction in France.

Installation of a new switch on Pennsylvania avenue, near Liberty street, has won much attention from the passersby. The use of a cutting torch was also viewed and it sliced through the steel like it was cheese.

The Elks minstrels next week promise to present one of the best shows that they have ever given. The show has been in rehearsal for some time and the program will be a good one.

In 1933 Mrs. Vance Weld is entertaining the Blue Stocking Club with Mrs. Moore, in charge of the presentation of current topics.

Cribbage players of the Elks Club are arranging for a tourney to be held at the club during the coming weeks. According to the plans, there will be two leagues in the tournament.

Fred Carlson, of Hemlock was one of the lucky hunters to get a bear in the woods of this section. The animal weighed 225 pounds.

Announcement is made that both rail and Pullman fares will be lowered for the Thanksgiving holiday. Traffic promises to be heavy and many students will be home from college for the occasion.

The annual Rural One Act Play contest will be held at Youngsville Tuesday evening December 5. Freehold, Tidoute, Starbrick and Akeley will have entries and the evening promises much of pelassure.

The present with a future—WAR BONDS FOR CHRISTMAS. Keep on Backing the Attack.

Washington in Wartime

By JACK STINNETT

WASHINGTON—It is doubtful if oratory in the Senate (or the whole of Congress for that matter) ever was at a lower ebb. Gone now, by defeat at the polls, are Sen. Harry F. Ashurst of Arizona, last of the great silver-tongues, who could mouth round phrases that rang in the memory for years; and Sen. George W. Norris, of Nebraska, whose forensic quotient was among the highest.

There is not even any one in the Senate now with the frenzied wit of young Sen. Rush Holt of West Virginia. In other words, the G. A. (gallery appeal) in Congress these days is almost nil.

But one of the oratorical greats did return to the Senate floor the other day to make what many consider one of the greatest speeches of his career. It was the aging Sen. Hiram Johnson of California, risen from a sick-bed which many of his friends feared he would never leave again. It is a phenomenon of that strange underground that operates from the capitol that although there was no announcement that he would speak he had no more gained his feet than floor and galleries were filled.

THROUGHOUT most of his speech he supported himself by holding on to the edge of his desk. His voice often quavered with physical weakness. Gone was that peculiar delivery of rocking from one foot to the other and punctuating his phrases by jabbing a finger at first the toe of one shoe and then the other. His speech was brief, hardly 500 words.

For a quarter of a century Senator Johnson had been an unwavering noninterventionist. He was a ring-leader of that little group which blocked our entry into the League of Nations. He had come to the Senate today merely to apologize for not participating in the fight on the Connally postwar foreign policy resolution.

He explained that his wife and his physicians had pleaded that he not take part in this debate, for fear of retarding the recovery which now seemed certain.

HE EXPLAINED that was why "I have naught to say in this great moment which deals with the country which I love and which has been mine ever since I was born. Seventy-seven years I have passed, and in those 77 years I have known no elegance but to the United States of America."

"God save the United States of America. God give to her all that she should have. God preserve her in the days to come. I know what they will bring. I have been through such days. But God be good to us and permit us to resist, and permit us to be the country we have ever been."

"So, with this prayer for our country that it may be protected and preserved in the days to come as in the days which have passed, I exhort my colleagues and my fellow countrymen that we all be just Americans. God bless America."

As Senator Johnson slipped wearily into his chair, there was the tribute of silence, broken only by some who blew their noses a little too vigorously. Many who had been his friends or foes for years didn't bother even with that subterfuge; they just openly dabbed their eyes.

It was only an alphabetical coincidence, of course, but a strange one. When the final vote on Connally's resolution was taken and 85 Senators had voted for it, the first name on that little list of five who wanted no part in committing the United States to postwar foreign policies, was that of Senator Hiram W. Johnson.

Hollywood Gossip

By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—Eddie Cantor, the grey temporarily out of his black hair, was reliving his youth, movie version.

He was up on the stage of Miner's Bowery theater, singing "The Curse of an Aching Heart," trembling in his shoddy, tight-fitting suit, and momentarily awaiting the hook from the wings.

It was at an amateur night at Miner's that Eddie made his first theatrical dollar. In real life the skinny, big-eyed kid won first prize for his impersonations of then famous stage people nobody remembers now; in the picture he wins the prize for singing. Actually the prize purse was $5; in the movie it's $10; the movies have to be colossal, don't they?

THAT'S the way Eddie's new film is. It's a little of Cantor's life, mixed in with a fictional story about four people in the theatrical game. The other three are Joan Davis, the knockabout gal, George Murphy and Constance Moore. Now and again something from Eddie's life story comes into the plot, including inevitably the five laughs, but in the main it's fiction. One of the most dramatic episodes in Cantor's real-life story, for instance, is brushed off with a reference. In 1929 Cantor, riding high, took a fall down the back market chute. He was busted. He came back to make a second fortune and a new career. All this covered with a reference to the set.

Other episodes from the Cantor life story are numbers from a Palace theater vaudeville bill (1917) in which Eddie's pal George Jessel, Pat Rooney and Bert Gordon will appear, from the 1924 Ziegfeld Follies, and from Cantor's musical hit, "Whoopie."

As for songs, there'll be "Dinah," "They're Wearin' Em Higher in Hawaii," "It Had to Be You," "I Want a Girl Just Like the Girl That Married Dear Old Dad," "I Don't Wanna Get Well," "Alabama Bound" and "Whoopie"—enough to fill a dozen sides with nostalgic tears and chuckles.

Eddie Cantor's own humorous account of the crash, "Caught Short." Probably that's because Eddie is realizing in "Show Business" a cherished ambition to be his own producer. He couldn't very well produce an epic story of his own life. But a story of show business in general—who knows more about show business?

AS FOR movie production,—"Well, I've produced my own radio show for 13 years now, and each show runs 30 minutes, or about one-third of a movie," he says. In other words, he thought it about time he were allowed to wrestle with a picture, and Charles Keerner, the RKO boss, has done the allowing.

"He seems to have confidence in me," Eddie remarks. "Gave me a $1,000,000 budget and said to go ahead—and so far he hasn't thought it necessary to come to the set."

Other episodes from the Cantor life story are numbers from a Palace theater vaudeville bill (1917) in which Eddie's pal George Jessel, Pat Rooney and Bert Gordon will appear, from the 1924 Ziegfeld Follies, and from Cantor's musical hit, "Whoopie."

Final Report in YMCA Call To Membership This Evening

An exceptionally good report is necessary when the Y. M. C. A. Call to Membership workers meet this evening at 8:30 o'clock if the campaign for 600 new and renewal members is to reach a successful conclusion. Friday night's report of a total of 256 members was below expectation, leaving 344 memberships to be secured over the weekend.

If the more than sixty workers in the organization were able to devote sufficient time to cover the large number of un-reached prospects in the last three days, the goal may still be achieved by tonight. In the "Y" membership effort, as in other campaigns in Warren, the workers have always "put it over" and they are, at the hour the Times-Mirror goes to press, busily trying to sign up the needed number of members before tonight.

Many friends of the Y. M. C. A. and participants in its program habitually wait for the annual campaign to arrange for continuation of their memberships. With everyone so much busier these days, some of these people may not be reached within the official campaign period. Such persons could, if they would, help the campaign workers reach their goal by telephoning the "Y" office and authorizing the inclusion of their membership in tonight's report.

Chief-of-Staff Howard Alexander presided Friday night at the 9 o'clock meeting and called upon the Captains for their reports. The first official report of the campaign was made by Company No. 2, Don Mowell, Capt., as leading the field with 33 members and 3005 points to their credit. The second-place group Friday night was Company No. 6, H. T. Flowers, Capt., with 31 members and 2820 points. Next in order was Company No. 3, of which G. G. Lind is captain, showing a total of 0 members and 2505 points. Tying Lind's aggregation in points was Company No. 9, captained by Byron W. Knapp, whose total members were 26. Tonight suitable recognition will be given the company which leads in points for the entire campaign.

Every man of the campaign organization who can possibly do so is asked to be present for tonight's meeting, and to help make it a Victory meeting.

Service Club Scores a Hit With Soldiers

Sgt. Ralph Leary, recently promoted to that rank while serving somewhere in the Pacific and whose parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Leary moved from Warren to Jamestown about a year ago, writes with a great deal of enthusiasm concerning work that the American Red Cross is doing in its special service department.

A Service Club has been established, he writes, for men stationed at this outpost. "We have a small remodeled hotel for our service club and it is sponsored by the Red Cross," he writes. "Final meals are provided at the price of 20 cents for breakfast and 25 cents for lunch and dinner. To give you an idea of the food, here is what we had this morning: Pancakes, bacon, sausage, cornflakes, toast and coffee. The prospect for lunch is roast lamb, vegetable soup, roast potatoes, green beans and pineapple pie, plus tea or coffee. One of the wonderful things about all this is that the food is served on small tables covered with tablecloths. The silverware and good china and the food served in good restaurant style is also appreciated."

In addition to the restaurant, Sgt. Leary tells of a writing room, game room and lounge which have been prepared for the service men who have short leaves or passes in town. He also cites a soda and ice cream bar where men may buy cigarettes, candy, ice cream, sandwiches and soft drinks, and concludes:

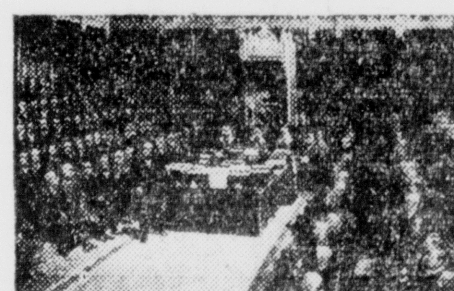

"We want to extend our thanks to all those who have given their time and money that we might have this. It has not been merely the Red Cross and Service Club that have done these things, but also you folks at home who have placed your interest and money into our interests. May God bless you all."

"Tank Town, U.S.A."

In Parliament—The voice of Winston Churchill is a Tank Town echo as he says of Rommel and the tanks: "The Lees and the Grants stopped him at El Alamein. The Sher-mans defeated him."

In Africa—Their rumble of attack on the African deserts, and their clatter of victory in the streets of Tunis and Bizerte hark back to the scene of their making, Tank Town, U.S.A.

"What Do You Mean—Tank Town?"

Why, it's the Detroit (Chrysler) Tank Arsenal where U. S. Army tanks are made.

Some have called it the tank capital of the world.

Started and finished on farmland in the fall and winter of 1940-'41. It was going strong many months before we got into the war.

It doubled and redoubled its production—time and time again.

Its main street is all indoors—a multi-lane manufacturing highway, down through the vast arsenal building.

Its freight depot sees the big boys loaded on their flatcars—en route eventually to worldwide battlefronts.

Its schools, hospital, restaurants, police force, testing tracks—all serve Tank Town and its hustling army and civilian population as it works night and day.

The TANK TOWN story is now being told in Action, the world over. It is a story of production skill and effort at home and fighting ability and stamina abroad.

BACK THE ATTACK—BUY WAR BONDS

On the Italian Beaches—They fought their way through beaches and dunes to Salerno, where the flowers that draped them in victory became a far distant Tank Town ceremony.

On the Road to Rome—The roads to Rome became Tank Town highways as the giant Sherman advance on paved roads laid by Roman emperors over 2,000 years ago.

Sheffield Properties of M.-W. Co. Sold After Long Holding

A commercial dynasty reaching back into the days of the Civil War came to an official end today with the announcement by W. H. Wright, president of the Metzger-Wright Company, that the last remaining properties of the Company in Sheffield had been transferred.

Metzger-Wright participation in the commercial life of Sheffield, with that of its corporate predecessors, goes back to about the year 1864 or 1865, when the original store was in operation. This store was owned by the Horton Cray Company, which became a dominant factor in the industrial life of northwestern Pennsylvania. The Sheffield Tannery, one of its important enterprises was completed in 1867. One of the various store buildings associated with the company was constructed probably in the latter 1860's or early 1870's. Another building constructed in 1881, which housed the main commercial operations for many years, was burned to the ground in 1932.

The two buildings involved in the present sale are the "Post Office Building" which was purchased by S. L. Sherman of Warren, and a brick building at No. 1 to 11 Center Street, purchased by Nik Zepp of Sheffield. Both will be operated as rental properties by their new owners. The Post Office building was originally leased by Horton Cray Company to the C. H. Smith Company.

The latter organization, founded by a former employee of Horton Cray Company, C. H. Smith, was rapidly becoming a prominent factor in the commercial life of this area. On April 7, 1904, the C. H. Smith Company purchased buildings occupied by Horton Cray and made plans for the erection of a new building. The firm had been organized in 1895 under the style of "C. H. Smith Company, Ltd." In 1909 the name was changed to C. H. Smith Company and it was revealed that the capital of the firm, which had been $80,000 in 1895, had been increased to $400,000. In 1912, a C. H. Smith building on Center street near the corner of Main street was nearly destroyed by fire. In 1913, an enormous water tank was constructed to provide a supplementary water supply for the various Smith buildings, as an extra safeguard against fire. In 1914, C. H. Smith Company operated retail stores in Ridgway, Wilcox, Arroyo, Instanter, Portland Mills, Sheffield, Warren, and Oil City. The Oil City store was purchased from the Smart Silberberg Company the previous owners having been the first partners of C. E. Metzger when he opened his store in Warren in 1896. The C. H. Smith Co. also operated numerous wholesale establishments, one of which survives as the Smith and Horton Company.

Always playing an active part in the affairs of Sheffield and other northwestern Pennsylvania communities, the C. H. Smith merged with the Metzger-Wright Company in the year 1919. In 1922, C. E. Metzger, W. W. Wright, and associates, purchased the Smith interest. In 1923, the name of the firm was changed from Smith-Metzger-Wright Company to Metzger-Wright Company, with C. E. Metzger, president, and W. W. Wright, vice president. W. W. Wright became president upon the death of C. E. Metzger in 1931. He was succeeded by S. W. Metzler of Uniontown upon his death in 1935, who was, in turn, succeeded by the present president, W. H. Wright.

Many properties were at one time included in the enterprise of the Sheffield concern. Present titles go back in an unbroken line to a patent issue in 1792, and include properties purchased from W. P. McClure, Morris Einstein, Horace Cray, James Farrell, Gordon McKillep, Edward K. Pratt, B. B. Bowen, Allen and Nelson Company, and Jerry Cray. Actual commercial operations in Sheffield ceased with the destruction by fire of the main store in 1932. Other Metzger-Wright properties in Sheffield have been disposed of in recent years.

High School Actor Heads Veteran Cast For Players' Next Public Production

A high school youth has been chosen to play the male lead in the Warren Players' next public production, it was revealed today with the announcement of the complete cast for "Heaven Can Wait," the comedy-phantasy from which the movie, "Here Comes Mr. Jordan" was adapted.

The young actor who will play Joe Pendleton, the boxer, is Robert Wilder, who will be making his debut on the local stage. Jane MacDonald, who has appeared in several Players' productions, will play opposite Mr. Wilder in the role of Bette Logan.

One of Warren's favorite actors, Byron Knapp, has been assigned to the part of Max Levene, Pendleton's manager, who supplies the principal comedy touch. Lester Muthert will play Messenger 7013 the role made famous on the screen by Edward Everett Horton.

ary 13th" as Tony Abbott.

The balance of the cast is made up of actors and actresses who can all be counted on to give excellent performances—Guinevere Knapp, who scored a hit in "The Man Who Came to Dinner"; Monty McClure, who has been a fixture in Players' Club since its organization and who never fails to delight audiences; Evelyn Armstrong, who contributed much to one of the Players' most successful productions, "Outward Bound"; Doris Mavrelis, who last appeared in "Stage Door"; Duane Wilder, who appeared first last season in "Watch on the Rhine"; Nick Geramos, also a member of the cast of "The Night of January 13th"; and Wanda Hoskins, Walter Sigworth and Robert Jewell who will be appearing in their initial Players' Club public shows.

Every Moment Counts!

NOW THAT WE are launched on the big attack, and the fighting's getting tougher—fiercer—every moment counts!

Our soldiers on the battlelines cannot win this war alone. Their courage, their sacrifices can do little without the whole-hearted efforts of hundreds of thousands behind them—manning the communications systems, checking their equipment, servicing their planes, issuing their vital supplies.

And that is work that you, an American woman, can do by joining the WAC. It is work you must do now when the need is so urgent—when soldiers' lives may depend on your help.

If you are an American citizen, over 20 and under 50 years of age—if you're single or married, without dependents, without children under 14—then the Army needs you—now—in the WAC. Go to your nearest U. S. Army Recruiting Station. Or mail the coupon below. Get full information about joining the WAC in your State's own company—now being formed. Do it today! The need is now.

(If you are ineligible for the WAC because of age or family responsibilities, take over the job of an eligible woman, and free her to join the WAC.)

Army-Navy Classic Tops Last College Grid Week

Seahawks' Defense Clicks

Mello, Notre Dame fullback, is tackled by Bononis of the Seahawks after gaining one yard. The action was in the first quarter of the game played at South Bend, Ind., between two unbeaten teams.

Big News of Weekend Games Is Notre Dame's 14-13 Win Over Formidable Seahawks

By TED MEIER
New York, Nov. 22.—(P)—The college football season winds up this week with the Army-Navy traditional classic at West Point in the No. 1 spot.
There is tremendous interest, of course, in the Notre Dame-Great Lakes game at Chicago and to a lesser extent in such sectional rivalries as Penn-Cornell, Brown-Colgate, (both Thanksgiving Day), Texas-Texas A&M, Georgia Tech-Georgia and Southern California-UCLA.

Montgomery Loses Verdict To Beau Jack

By TED MEIER
New York, Nov. 22.—(P)—Beau Jack is back on top of the lightweight heap and he gave full credit to his new trainer, Larry Amadee.
Following Amadee's instructions to the letter, Beau, 3 to 1 underdog in the betting, regained the 135-pound title by outpointing Champion Bob Montgomery in a furious 15-rounder at Madison Square Garden last night.
Under Amadee's tutelage Jack amazed the crowd of 17,866, that contributed to a gross gate of $96,873.04, by fighting differently than he did when he lost his title to Philadelphia Bob lost May or when he was upset by Bobby Ruffin a 10-rounder only six weeks ago.

Both the Cadets and Middies boast their strongest teams in many seasons. Only mighty Notre Dame has defeated them. Instead of the mammoth crowd of 100,000 that used to view the game at Philadelphia, however, only those living within a 10-mile radius of West Point are eligible to purchase the 25,000 tickets available. This wartime transportation restriction was adopted a year ago when the game was played at Annapolis and Navy upset a favored Army team.
Army tuned up for its prime objective by overwhelming Brown, 59-0, on Saturday. Navy was idle.
The big news of the weekend was Notre Dame's comeback to squeeze past the formidable Iowa Seahawks, 14-13, and Coach Frank Leahy finally admitting he has a championship team. He didn't say so, but by inference he believes his boys should take Great Lakes this week to become Notre Dame's first unbeaten, untied eleven since Knute Rockne's 1930 aggregation.

As the players bowed their heads, Leahy said: "Fellows, there was the man who made the Fighting Irish a great tradition. Let's not let him down today."
In another exciting game Purdue's Boilermakers finished their season unbeaten and united by defeating Indiana, 7-0. The Hoosiers had a first down on the Purdue two, but couldn't buck it over.
Randolph Field of Texas and Colorado College retained their perfect records by beating the North Texas Aggies, 20-13, and Colorado University, 6-0.
Dartmouth, beaten only by Pennsylvania 7-6, wound up a satisfactory season by lacing Princeton, 42-13. Villanova and Al Postus whipped Temple, 34-7, while Penn State humbled Pitt, 14-0, and Lafayette upset Rutgers, 9-2.

UNMARKED LANDMARK
Fraunces Tavern, where the Sons of the Revolution made their headquarters, is the oldest house still standing in Manhattan. Brooklyn has a small cottage, at the corner of Avenue V and 63d street, which is many years older, but unmarked.

BOUND HOUNDS
About 8000 fox and stag hounds have been destroyed in England since the outbreak of the War, or about two-thirds of the total number in Great Britain.

Bears Lose To Redskins But Otherwise it is a Quiet Day In the Professional League

By DAVE ROFF
Chicago, Nov. 22.—(P)—With Sammy Baugh and Sid Luckman both being cooled off during the battle royale of their respective teams, the Washington Redskins and Chicago Bears, professional football's weekend was virtually normal. Only two records were broken.
But the myth of the Bears' invulnerability was broken also, a legend that said they couldn't lose in regular league games. After 24 straight scheduled contests without a defeat over three seasons, the mighty Chicagoans toppled before the Redskins yesterday, 21 to 7, much as they did in last year's championship scrap at Washington.
The result failed to alter the chances of either team repeating for the titles in their divisions, which means it's still pretty much a toss-up for the Packers and the Chicagoans who play Dec. 19 in Chicago in the championship match again.
As a matter of fact, the Bears' surprising defeat probably won't hurt the box office for that title game, because Chicagoans who took the team's continuing success quite for granted may be jarred into abandoning their ho-hum attitude and packing Wrigley Field for the season's windup.
Because both the Bears and Redskins were highly keyed to pass defense yesterday Baugh and Luckman had scant chance to do any new record-breaking. But when the Bears made their solitary consolation touchdown in the final period on Luckman's 58-yard pass to Scooter McLean—Sid's 24th scoring aerial of the year which did tie a record—Bob Snyder came along to boot the extra point and set a new one-season mark of 34 conversions.
And over in Brooklyn, Durable Don Hutson snagged eight passes for 237 yards of gain, topping his old high of 209 yards made last year against Cleveland. Hutson thereby scored two touchdowns, booted four extra points and a field goal and ran his scoring lead to 97 points as the Packers rolled over the Dodgers, 31-7.
That enabled Green Bay to retain a slender chance of tying the Bears for the western title, but since the Chicagoans play their weak cross-town rivals, the Cardinals, next Sunday, a win there would clinch it for the Bears.

Rochester Team Looking for Games

The Atlas Wreckers basketball aggregation of Rochester, one of the leading semi-pro clubs in western New York, are looking for Sunday night games to be played in Rochester. Experienced teams desiring to play are requested to contact the management.
Last season, the Wreckers completed their best season since they first put a team together in 1936 and have high hopes of continuing on this year, in the same fashion. Draft calls have thinned out the teams in this area so therefore the management is anxious to hear from all teams who have star-studded rosters. Communicate with John D. Herring, Jr., 2 Elgin street, Rochester, N. Y., for games.

Phils To Train At Hershey in Spring

Philadelphia, Nov. 22.—The Phillies are heading for Hershey, again. The National League club has announced that the team will train next spring, as it did last, at the central Pennsylvania model town, a move previously indicated by William D. Cox, Phillies' president.
But while the moguls were settling on the site, Uncle Sam picked off another player, with George Joseph, Philadelphia sandlot star signed after the season ended, summoned by the navy.
The Athletics, not to be left behind in the flurry of baseball news, also announced the loss of a pitcher, Lou Ciola, right-hander who won one and lost three last year, called by the navy.

Letters to the Editor

ON MEAT COSTS
Akeley, Pa. Nov. 16.

Times-Mirror
Warren Penna.
Gentlemen:

I believe the farmers throughout Warren county would surely enjoy reading this article "Beef on the Hoof."

I am told the high pressure cattle dealers are offering farmers from $60 to $100 for a week old pig last spring they were $15.00. For beef cattle that month, a year ago, sold at 14 and 15 cents per pound. Dealers offer 9 1/2c and 10c cents—so you see the farmers need to read up, there has been no drop in meat prices at retail markets. The dealers are getting rich besides their subsidy.

Thank you,
Max W. Larsen.

Beefsteak on the Hoof

The extra large stockyard receipts of range cattle this fall were due to the increase in number of cattle raised, unsettled market conditions and because cattlemen could not obtain enough feed to carry them. As a result the price for stockers and feeders has, in many instances, been fixed by their slaughter value.

While many of these feeder cattle offered a fair margin of profit, as compared to existing prices of fat cattle, farmers and cattle feeders were justified in not buying their usual number, in view of impending government price control. Another deterring factor was that corn and protein feeds could be obtained as needed. Such feeds as could be bought were higher than last year, while the price of finished cattle was lower.

The last straw for cattlemen was the government price order issued on October 25. It is apparent that its authors have never been closer to a steer than a beefsteak. The order provides for subsidy payments to slaughterers which are supposed to prevent any reduction in livestock prices. Live cattle prices, as set by grade, are required to be maintained within the following ranges: Choice $15 to $16; Good $14.25 to $15.25; Medium $12 to $13; Common $10 to $11; Bologna Bulls and Cutters and Canners $7.45 to $8.45. The subsidy payments to slaughterers, based on carcass grades are: $1 per hundredweight for Choice; for Good, $1.45; for Medium, 90 cents; and for the lower carcass grades, 50 cents.

The cattlemen's price is set on a live-weight basis, but the slaughterer's subsidy payment is established on a carcass to be graded by an official grader of the Food Distribution Administration. This method of grading provides a loophole for extra profits to slaughterers at the expense of cattlemen. It is very difficult to accurately determine the carcass grade that cattle will produce prior to slaughter, especially in the Medium and lower grades. If a slaughterer purchases a steer which he grades as Medium on a live-weight basis, his carcass may be 1 ter graded as Good by the official grader. Thus the slaughterer will receive an unearned bonus of 50 cents per hundred. The natural tendency under this system will then be for slaughterers to grade cattle low when purchasing. This could be avoided if there was an official grading of live-weight cattle, as well as carcass.

As matters stand now, many people will find feeding cattle. As soon as present slaughter supplies are gone, there will be a real beef shortage. Not only will the usual number of feeder cattle not be purchased for fattening on Corn Belt and Eastern farms, but at the prices now set, the lighter weight and lower grade cattle will be favored.

FINAL ASSEMBLY

By E. H. LEFTWICH

Chapter 7

THE time passed slowly. Pete rubbed and polished tubing first with one hand and then the other, until both arms ached. From time to time he would stop and stretch before going on with his monotonous task.

Occasionally, Barker came around and passed a friendly word and once Tim Brandon walked by and stopped long enough to ask how he was getting along.

"Say, Alf," Pete asked suddenly, "you say we're out of screws for this ship? Do you mean to tell me that they can't buy screws?"

"Well, no," Alf answered. "Some parts are slow coming in, but screws can still be had. Somebody in the purchasing department fell down on the job and didn't order enough. You see, they didn't figure on any screws being lost or ruined."

"Do you mean to tell me they ordered just enough screws for the ship to be built on the contract?"

"Yep, that's what they did. Figured it down to the exact number. Some of Mr. Kahl's efficiency methods."

"How long have you been out of screws?"

Alf pondered for a moment. "Offhand, I'd say about six weeks."

"Then, for six weeks the company has been paying a bunch of men to do nothing but 'chase the dog'?"

"Yep."

"How many screws could have been bought for the money they paid the men to chase the dog for six weeks?"

Alf scratched his head with his left hand. This new guy was apparently okay, but he asked too many questions. "You got me, buddy," he said. "How many screws could they have bought?"

"How many men are there in the 'chasing department'?"

"About sixty, I'd say, on two shifts."

"Then, figuring sixty men's pay, at an average of say sixty cents per hour for six weeks..." Pete reached down and picked up an old Personnel Pass from the floor. He did some quick figuring.

on the back of it with his pencil. "Total, over $8,000 in pay for these men. If screws cost a dollar a gross, which they don't, they could have bought 8,000 gross of screws!"

"Whew!" The old man exploded. "That's a lot of screws."

"You bet, it's a lot of screws. And if they had ruined or lost half that many screws, they'd still have made money, by putting these men on jobs where they'd have earned their pay, and incidentally turned out more airplanes. Dog-chasing!" Disgust was in Pete's tone. "Have you always had dog-chasing?"

"Well, yes, more or less, from time to time, when we run out of certain parts. If it ain't screws, it's nuts... and if it ain't nuts, it's washers; and if it ain't washers it's spacers, and if..."

Pete laughed and started rubbing a different length of tubing which curved gracefully around the generator and terminated in the top of an aluminum electrical box. "Of course not, Alf. I'm just a good old American as you are. That's why I don't like the idea of wasting time while we're having a war. It's because these ships are so very important. It's just not right, that's all. There's no excuse for running out of screws or nuts or washers."

A RELIEVED look flooded Alf's face. "For a minute," he confessed, "I thought you was one of them saboteurs. We got to look out for 'em all the time. Every once in a while, the F. B. I. snatches one out of here. Now, that Charles Brackmyde feller, for instance, I can't see why he's stayed here as long as he has. He's a dirty saboteur, if I ever seen one... always snooping around where he ain't got no right to be and watching a feller work."

"Who's Charles Brackmyde?"

"Oh, he's a buzzard who's supposed to work here in Final, but he don't do no more work than he can get out of. Never seen him hit an honest lick of work, yet."

"But, Alf, you mustn't get so down on people. Brackmyde is probably all right. You see, you almost believed that I was!"

"That's different. You're okay."

"You look a feller right in the eye, but Brackmyde, he can't do that. You watch what I say, they snatch him out of here any day now, and besides, he's been running around with Kitty..."

"Kitty? You mean the pretty girl?"

"You're darn right I mean the pretty girl, and the finest girl you ever slapped an insignia on an outer panel. I guess you know who Kitty is."

"Well, yes, I've met her."

"I saw her going toward the doctor's office last night. Got hurt again, I guess. She's always getting hurt, but she's the sweetest little queen who ever lived. Why did you know that the Cost and Accounting Department has figured that it costs the Company $69.80 every time she goes to the water fountain for a drink?"

"No."

"Yep. In time lost, tools dropped and stuff ruined and scratched by the men. You see, all their heads turn to watch her when she goes by. They been giving us hell about it... but we can't help it. She's so pretty. They'd fire her in a minute if they didn't know that all the men would walk out if they did."

"No."

"SHE is, buddy... and as nice as they come. There ain't nothing she wouldn't do to help a guy out and it don't make no difference who he is, either. That's why it burns us up to see Brackmyde chasing after her..."

"After all," Pete mused, "she has the right to choose her own friends."

"But that guy ain't no friend to nobody... he's poison!"

At that moment there was a sudden stoppage of activity in and around the section where Pete was working. Men stirred restlessly and there was a general turning of heads in the direction of the Paint Shop. Pete looked and saw the trim figure of a girl in blue slacks hurrying out of the doorway. She was holding the wrist of her left hand in her right hand.

"It's Kitty," the old man cried. "She's hurt herself again. She's going to First Aid."

Pete dropped his piece of steel wool, shoved the old man aside with a quick motion and hurried toward her.

He left Warren with a Selective Service group on May 6 and had his basic training in a coast artillery anti-aircraft unit at Fort Eustis, Va. After a furlough at home in September, he reported to Fort George G. Meade in Md. Another son of the Petersons, Pvt. Elwood, has recently been transferred from Miami Beach, Fla., to Amarillo, Texas, to a technicians' school.

Mrs. Isabelle Rice, of Sheffield, has received word that her son, Charles C. Rice, seaman second class, has been transferred from Camp Peary, Va., to Camp Parks in California.

Pvt. Jack Gray is home on 10-day furlough from Orlando, Fla., to visit his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Gray, of Starbrick.

The second anniversary of the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor will be commemorated in Warren County by the war's greatest drive for waste paper. Plans for a concerted effort, not only in Warren County, but throughout the county, were announced this morning by W. T. Corbett, chairman of the Warren County Salvage committee.

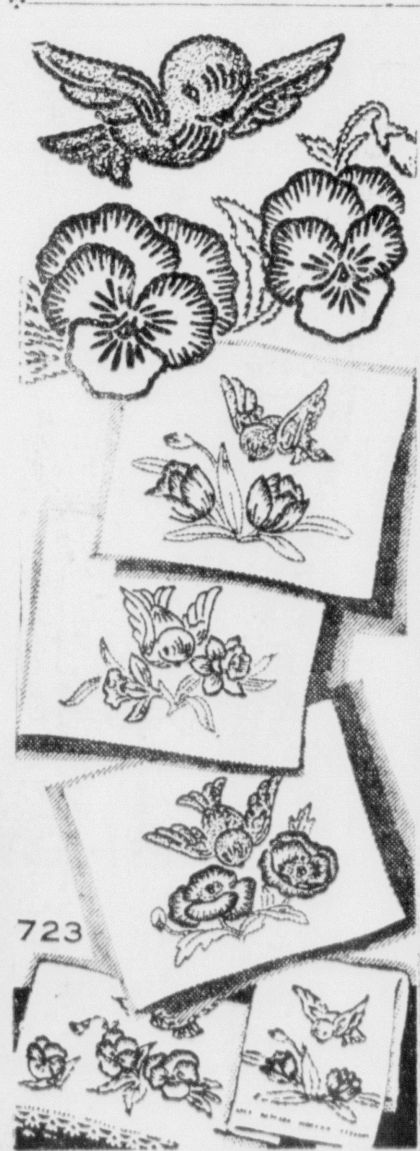

In the Borough, a curb pick-up will be staged on December 8. This will be welcome news to many Warren householders who have been conscientiously saving paper for many weeks. The various types of paper are to be separately packaged, newspapers in one pile, magazines in a second, cardboard and Kraft paper in a third. They should be on the curbs early Wednesday morning, December 8, when volunteer trucks will collect them.

The collection in Warren County outside of the borough will be handled through the county schools. H. L. Blair, superintendent, has addressed a letter to every teacher in the county, enlisting their unanimous aid in making this drive the biggest waste paper collection of all time. Each pupil is asked to bring to the school every ounce of waste paper in his home and his neighbor's home.

An interesting feature of the county aspect of the drive will be the award of 9 cash prizes to those students who bring in the largest individual percentage of paper. First, second, and third prizes will be $25, $20, and $15, respectively. Fourth and fifth prizes will be $10 each. Sixth, seventh, eighth, and ninth prizes will be $5 each.

All proceeds from the sale of paper in the Pearl Harbor drive, both from the Borough and from the county, will be turned over to the Red Cross for use in purchasing musical supplies for American soldiers now held prisoners in German and Japanese concentration camps. Mr. Corbett announced. The goal of the drive, 100 tons, is far in excess of previous efforts of the kind.
